

IS GETTING CORNER ON HORSE MARKET FOR INAUGURATION

Col. Harper, to Provide Mounts for City's Guests, Is Heading Off the Speculators.

Col. R. N. Harper, as chairman of the civic organization committee, is cornering the horse market of Washington, Georgetown, and Alexandria, Va., in advance of the inauguration, in order that the parade participants may have mounts enough.

He found that if he did not get into the market ahead of speculators, governors, governors' staffs, and the Indians would have to walk in the parade. Determined not to force upon the city's guests such a situation, Colonel Harper set about getting the horses covered.

He made out a group of contracts for the use of horses during inaugural week, and set a price beyond which he would not go. Then he induced a veterinary surgeon to assist in his campaign, and now he is getting horses galore.

Must Be Sharply Shod.
He stipulates in all contracts that the horses shall be of sound condition, and good appearance, and then he has all the animals inspected and passed on by the veterinarian. The dealers must see that every horse is sharply shod for inauguration day, because Colonel Harper is taking no chances on slippery pavements and later damage suits.

Mr. Harper expects to have 1,000 or more mounts "cornered" before his work is finished. He wants 100 for the Indians, and several hundred for the governors and their staffs. The Government will furnish the mounts for the army and navy officers who take part in the parade.

Plans for publicity work are now being formulated by Chairman Earl Godwin and Press Agent John L. Harper. Daily reports will be furnished to the press, and every day in the nation can know just what Washington is doing for the first Democratic inauguration in years.

Leaders on Reception Committee.
More than 500 names are on the reception committee list given out by Chairman Thomas Nelson Page. Prominent leaders in legal, official, army, navy and legislative and religious life are included in the selections of Mr. Page.

The army officers' section is headed by Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, the Senate section by Senator A. O. Bacon, and Senator Jacob Gallinger and the House section by Speaker Champ Clark. The judges of a number of courts have representation, and the Democratic National Committee has a number of its members on the list. Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, has a place on the general committee.

The personnel of the floor committee, membership on which is much sought, will be announced tomorrow. Chairman Benjamin Minor expects to have between 250 and 300 members.

Parade action by the Secretaries of War, Navy and Interior are expected tomorrow on the question of the Pension Building for inaugural ball use. Congress, it is believed, will vote on the inaugural bill tomorrow.

Merchants Enter Protest.
The Retail Merchants' Association has entered a protest against the purchase of inauguration supplies from the merchants outside of Washington. The association points out that its members can supply all of the committee needs and feels that in return for subscriptions to the inaugural fund everything should be purchased here.

The association is especially opposed to any proposition whereby the order for the 5,000 medals, including several gold ones, should go to Philadelphia, as four years ago.

The latest number of subscriptions to the $100,000 inaugural fund shows a total of $75,000. With only a little more than $200,000 to raise, the association's action, of the finance committee, is hoping there will be an early response from Washingtonians.

Navy Yard Goats Fully Protected
No one can get the goat of the men employed in a United States navy yard, not if Beckman, the Washington Post's Secretary of the Navy, knows anything about it. He has taken issue with Rear Admiral Robert M. Doyle, commander of the Norfolk navy yard, who recently had an unexpected rear-end collision with a billy goat, and thereupon promptly banished the mascot which belonged to the men of the yard.

This experience, more or less of a shock both to the dignity and the physical comfort of the rear admiral, had led to the goat of the men. They had cared for the omnivorous quadruped because it was their mascot, their good luck piece, and, moreover, furnished no end of fun.

But the rear admiral, having been baited, couldn't see the endearing qualities of the goat, and threatened to tie a can on his goatship.

But Beckman, Winthrop, who breeds fine cattle and therefore has an affection for animals, believes that the absence of goats will deprive the employees of navy yards of an innocent, if rather voracious, source of amusement, and has said that the men may continue to keep mascots, goats, or anything else that pleases their fancy.

The decision of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy is calculated to please the men, although it will not be cheering intelligence to the rear admiral.

Parcel Post Maps Found Incorrect
An alleged error in the 100,000 or more parcel post maps distributed to post-offices throughout the United States to use in computing parcel post zone rates has been discovered by a Des Moines, Ia., firm, which suddenly served notice on the department yesterday that the first zone on the official maps, supposed to be fifty miles, was but thirty-five miles. If such a mistake has been made, it is pointed out, it already has cost the people a tremendous sum in excessive postage.

Plan Oyster Supper.
The Young Peoples' Society, of St. Stephen's Church, Fourteenth street and Columbia road, Mt. Pleasant, will give an oyster supper for the benefit of the church, Thursday evening, January 16, in the parish hall, adjoining the church, from 8 to 9 o'clock.

WILSON DEMANDS END OF MONOPOLY IN THIS COUNTRY

Tells Business Men at Chicago
Trade Conditions of Today Are Too Unequal.

he added, and then, after a short pause, he said: "I notice you do not applaud that."

"The Government at Washington has been tremulously suspicious of those who have approached it for rights in forest reserves, water reserves, and mineral reserves," the governor continued. "They have looked with suspicion upon every applicant. The thing that has to be done is this: The raw material of this country must be at the disposal of everybody in the United States upon the same terms."

"It is believed in this country that the poor man has a less chance to get justice than the rich man. God forbid that that should be generally true. But so long as that is true, the belief constitutes a threatening fact."

Old Party Lines Breaking.
"One of the reasons why there were not merely two parties contending for the supremacy at the recent election, one reason why the field of choice was varied and multiplied, was that the old lines are breaking where they are old, and that men are no longer to be catalogued, no longer to be found by dead reckoning, no longer to be put in classes as if their thinking had been concluded and they were no longer casting abroad for the things which they should think and the things they should do. America has come upon a new period of thinking, and she is going to think her way out to a triumphant solution of her difficulties."

"There are some perfectly clear lines that may be laid down. There are four sets of things which have to be done. In the first place, we have to husband and administer the common resources of this country for the common benefit."

"Why is it that the Government of the United States up to this moment has not hit upon a consistent policy of conservation? It has not. You must be aware that a mere policy of reservation is not a policy of conservation. It is in one sense a policy of conservation, for it conserves, but no nation can merely keep out of use its resources in order that they may not be squandered and dissipated. We must devise some process of general use."

Speech Causes Talk.
Judging by the reports in the Chicago morning papers today, the speech of President-elect Woodrow Wilson has caused feelings of mingled emotions among the great men of commerce, industry and finance who heard it.

The Tribune says: "Woodrow Wilson delivered an appeal and a warning. He was thoroughly in earnest and there was not a man present who did not feel that he was hearing a man who was not a man personally."

The Record Herald says: "Woodrow Wilson, who delivered a brilliant address, right in the eye, and told them that monopoly would be squeezed out of their business either with their assistance or by force. They applauded the generalities of the speaker's discourse, which left them wondering whether he was pronouncing sentences or pronouncing facts."

The Examiner says: "President-elect Wilson invited men representing billions of dollars to join hands with him in conducting his Administration. The men of money assembled before him seemed to take his speech as a warning."

Traces of Prisoner, But Not Harness
When a detective testified that he arrested James Jones, a colored defendant, in the Police Court yesterday, Assistant United States Attorney Weyrick was wrongly accused of "sawing facetious" by everyone in the courtroom.

"How did you find the traces?" queried the Assistant United States Attorney of the witness.

"Ha, ha," guffawed the detective outright. "I told you we didn't find the harness."

"Traces of the prisoner, not the harness," I mean," hurriedly corrected the Government prosecutor, saving himself the embarrassment of being considered a crackpot by the audience.

Jones was sentenced to thirty days in jail. No "traces" of the harness have yet been found.

BOSTON WOMEN IN WORLD-WIDE SEARCH FOR MISSING WIDOW

Society Leader Asks Congressmen to Help Clear Up Mystery of Disappearance.

BOSTON, Jan. 12.—Boston women, headed by Mrs. Thomas P. Curtis, of Beacon street, society leader and suffragist, have begun a world-wide search in an attempt to clear up the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Mrs. Henrietta Hutchins, the Dorchester widow who vanished while on a tour of the old world.

Mrs. Curtis, who is related to Assistant Secretary of the Treasury James F. Curtis, wrote today to Congressmen James M. Curley and Andrew J. Peters, in Washington, asking them to co-operate. It is believed that through Mrs. Curtis the Assistant Secretary may be brought to lend his influence.

Mrs. Hutchins was the widow of James Hutchins, of Dorchester. She went abroad four years ago. The last word received from her was that from Monte Carlo, in which she stated that she was going to Alexandria for a tour of Egypt. She was in good health and well supplied with funds.

Congressmen Robert, Curley, and Peters, who represent Boston and vicinity, said today they had received no word from Mrs. Curtis as yet and were not familiar with the facts in the case. All three stated, however, that when the letters are received, they will do what they can to find Mrs. Hutchins.

It is hardly probable that the letters mailed in Boston today will reach the Congressmen before tomorrow afternoon.
